Hey Derin,

I was wondering if you could help with sound proofing the studios or get some cool air circulation into the rooms so that we could keep the windows closed to keep the birds out and the noise to a minimum.

Hi Greg -

There's been no change at the Malonga since we talked. Monday night the whistles were unrelenting, and the class went til 9:30. Tonight, they seem to be shouting through a megaphone, which I've not heard before. Maybe it's a microphone, but it sounds sort of low quality like a megaphone.

I understand that it might take a week or two to get the heat fixed and closed the windows, but rectifying the hours, whistling and amplification seem within their control. What are your thoughts?

Thanks-
